The Indian Revenue Service Association, Surat Unit wishes to register admiration towards the social service of extraordinary nature by a man with ordinary means. Despite remarkable medical advancement and technological innovation, organ failure still remains a serious challenge before mankind. It is this challenging domain of social service that Shri. Nilesh Mandlewala has dedicated his life for. His lecture at Aayakar Bhavan on the Income Tax Investiture Day was an eye opener for us.

As we understand today, more than two million patients are suffering from kidney failure alone and this number is increasing every year. Then there are numerous cases of Liver and Pancreas failure as well. Today, organ donation from brain dead patients is gradually assuming acceptance in the society thanks to volunteers like Nileshbhai Mandlewala. We can only guess the courage and conviction it would take to convince the relatives of a brain dead person for organ donation in that state of mind.

This singular contribution of Nileshbhai has given a new lease of life to those with deteriorating hopes and dwindling faith. Numerous people from all across the Country rejoice their rebirth owing to the single handed contribution of Shri. Nileshbhai Mandlewala. What further surprises us is the sense of commitment of a man of non – medical field towards such a complex medical challenge.

We strongly feel that outstanding contribution like that of Shri Nilesh Mandlewala deserves appreciation and acknowledgement by the society.
